

Our Volunteers

Mina Morris

Trustee & Co-Founder

Mina used to work as a solicitor in a leading Trade Union law firm dealing with litigation and employment law. She left this world a few years ago to concentrate on raising her three children. Mina is passionate about The Orphan Trust and firmly believes that everyone has a duty to look after those less fortunate.

Mina will be visiting Bangladesh in Januray 2013 and seeking out orphanages and drop-in centres in need of help. Keep an eye out for her blog and follow her on Twitter to keep up to date on her work.

Daniel Morris

Trustee & Co-Founder

Daniel is also a solicitor, father of three and Director of Box Legal Limited. He is a keen blogger (www.aftertheeventinsuranceblog.co.uk) and has used his contacts and staff at Box Legal to get the charity off the ground. He supports Mina with her day to day running and fundraising and firmly believes success is a privilege and comes with responsibility. He plays five-a-side football and runs in his (little) spare time.

Abidur Choudhury

Volunteer

Abidur is a Consultant at a global Branding and Communications house in London. An intrepid traveller; at 19 he visited Bangladesh and the situation he discovered there with the street kids and orphans made a lasting impression on him. Abidur believes strongly that with a bit of effort and funding, you can make a significant and lasting change in lives of these children. An avid sportsman, he has recently discovered rock climbing so spends any spare time he can get scaling rather large walls....
